STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, APRIL 27, 1906.

NO. 17.

IN MEMORIAM.

With a heart in sympathy with those who mourn, and ever willing to give a comforting word to those bowed in grief, I chronicle the death of Mary A. Doores, which occurred at her home in Crab Orchard April 17th, 1906.

Mrs. Doores was before her marriage Miss Mary A. Thomas, daughter of Capt. Thomas Thomas, of Bourbon county. She was born July 11, 1834. When seven years of age her father emigrated to Cass county, Mo., and settled near Pleasant Hill. She united with the Christian church when 15 years old and lived true to her profession during her life.

On May 22nd, 1851, she was united in marriage with Dr. Wm. Morris Doores, who, with three daughters, Mrs. Sallie Coulter, of Colorado, Mrs. Lurah Speigle, Shelbyville, Ind., and Mrs. Leila Livingston, of Chicago, survive her. Dr. Doores moved with his family to Crab Orchard in January, 1879 and had lived continuously there since. In all these years Mrs. Doores had been a faithful wife, mother and friend, fastening herself so closely and tenderly in the affections of her family and friends that when the summons came for her to depart and all earthly ties to be severed, their hearts were crushed with grief; but she, recognizing the call as being from her Heavenly Father, felt that she still had a mission to perform in the few moments left her in this life and calling each member of the family and especially her grand-daughter, Miss Ila Holdam, whom she raised from early childhood and on whom her affections seemed to linger, separately to her bedside, plead with them to meet her in heaven, uttering with her last breath: "How sweet to be with Jesus." This assurance is sufficient to comfort aching hearts in the thought that she has gone on just a little while before, waiting to give you a sweet and joyous greeting where you may one and all "be with Jesus."

Boston women have discovered the reason why children take to spectacles at a tender age. It is due, they say, to careless nursemaids, who sit about the public gardens or Commonwealth avenue and let their charges sleep with the sun shining full upon their faces. Sun baths are good as a hygienic measure, but optic nerves are sensitive and not to be trifled with, and youngsters who are unable to call for a sunshade have to seek slumber with their eyelids quivering under the glare. A crusade should be started against this practice of blinding the darlings, says one matron of the Hub. She is going to give morning talks with warnings to mothers that they must instruct nurses to screen "little p'essum's eyes."

Nervous School Children.

Statistics gathered by various School Boards, show that a large percentage of school children suffer from different forms of nervousness, mild or exaggerated. Some showed a tendency to melancholy, others mental depression, and many the nervous twitchings of mild chorea, or St. Vitus' dance. Most of these troubles can be overcome by proper food, sufficient sleep, and Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin. It is pleasant to take, and safe and sure in results. Try it. Sold by Penny's Drug Store, Stanford; C. W. Adams, Hustonville, at 50c and $1. Money back if it fails.
